Theodore Roosevelt. All citizens favoring the Progressive Party platform cordially invited to attend.

J. M. FORRISTAL, Chairman.
FRANK HENDERSHOT, Secretary.

THREATEN SELF-DESTRUCTION.

Pennsylvania, with its 40 electoral votes, is lost to Taft. The Progressives, in the primary contest, have defeated the regulars, and now with a three-cornered fight in that state, among Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson electors, the Roosevelt electors are assured a victory.

New York state, in two presidential elections, has been so close as to be in doubt for days after the close of the polls. A state so evenly divided in politics cannot be won by Taft with the Progressives in the field.

With Pennsylvania and New York lost to Taft, how can the Republican nominee win?

The Standpatters, no doubt, are asking themselves the same question, for they realize how hopeless is their contest and in their bitterness are threatening to commit hari-kari.

THE KEY-NOTE ORATOR IN UTAH.

Senator George Sutherland delivered the key-note speech at the Republican state convention in Salt Lake City. He paid his compliments to Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay and Wm. Glasman of Ogden, according to each the meanest fling that he could invent.

When Sutherland is placed away in the same political graveyard with Lorimer, Penrose, Ballinger and others of his ilk and epitaphs of opprobrium are written to his memory, Roosevelt will continue to hold the esteem of every man and woman to whom the achievements of Roosevelt have been an open book.

Sutherland belongs to the old school of politics in which the politician was taught that honor and principle must not stand in the way of success. He is a corporation tool who has mortgaged his soul in the service of his masters and he can no more appreciate the spirit of the Progressive movement than could Hinky Dink or Bathhouse John, in their hey-day, understand the meaning of honesty in politics.

DIRTY BIG BUSINESS—CORRUPT POLITICS.

In a vigorous editorial, the Indianapolis Star handles the Arch-Bold-Penrose conspiracy, saying:

Possibly it is as well for Mr. Roosevelt to submit at exhaustive length the detailed facts concerning the attempt to prove upon him a corrupt deal with Standard Oil in 1904, so that those who have been seriously disturbed by frequent reiteration of that foolish charge may be provided with a record by which they may reassure themselves. For most persons, however, it seems a waste of time and trouble. The only ones who could possibly believe such a thing are those who are already insane on the subject of Roosevelt.

The sufficient answer to the charge of a corrupt deal is that Roosevelt acted throughout as if there had been no deal and never as if there had been.

By Mr. Roosevelt's enemies a prodigious amount of dust is raised over everything but the main point. We are invited to ponder long and painfully as to why he didn't confer with Bliss; as to which is the more truthful person—Penrose or Roosevelt; as to why letters that are not in existence or produced were not written or produced, and a multitude of enormous husks designed for no other purpose whatever but to hide the kernel of truth.

There is only one fact or circumstance about this combined and collusive attack of Archbold and Penrose on Roosevelt that deserves the anxious concern of any intelligent being, and that is. What does this assault mean? And the answer is, as plain as the nose on your face, that Dirty Big Business and Corrupt Politics have combined to beat Theodore Roosevelt with Woodrow Wilson.

Taft is negligible. The man to beat Roosevelt with is Wilson. And this age-long alliance between Dirty Big Business and corrupt machine politics is afraid for its life of Theodore Roosevelt. These conspirators know what he did to them before; they know how they will stand with him again.

A man might wade through the intricate mazes of this Archbold labyrinth and come out no wiser than before; but there is one absolute and unerring guide for patriotic action in this case, standing out like a lighthouse on a stormy coast. Whoever else may be hesitating or confused, Archbold and Penrose are not. They know positively where the rest of us may doubt. And their knowledge is disclosed to all in the clearest and most unequivocal manner possible.

It is to the interests of Archbold and Penrose and what they represent to defeat Roosevelt. It is to the interest of honest men and honest business to elect him.

SPARE THOSE BEAUTIFUL TREES.

We are opposed to the uprooting of any of our beautiful shade trees; we are opposed to any order by the city officials which, if enforced, would leave many places exposed for years to the heat of the sun and rob many homes of one of the greatest comforts—a shady retreat in the warm days of summer.

Working to a plan for the beautifying of Ogden, it may be necessary to cause certain trees to be planted on designated streets, but no shade tree that is not a nuisance should be cut down until there is a tree to take its place.

If we must have new trees, let us wait for the young trees to grow to a size sufficient to afford shade before applying the ax to the wide-spreading, vigorous box elder.

Here is a communication on this subject from one of our most prominent business men that has our unqualified endorsement:

"Ogden, Utah, September 5th, '12.

Editor Standard: In last evening's news, I noticed an article headed, "Uprooting of Shade Trees Ordered," and from the article I would take it, that all poplar, box elder, locust and cottonwood trees are to be ordered uprooted; that is, in the parked districts of the city. It will not be a great while before the entire city is curbed, gutted and parked and if this order is given to the uprooting of trees named in the parked districts, it seems to me it will almost destroy all of the shade trees of the city.

"I am personally much of an admirer of shrubbery and shade and I think that to remove all of the trees named in the districts mentioned, would have a tendency to make our city look stripped and impoverished and would detract from the many charms it has today. I want to advance with the city as it advances and am very much in favor of improving the appearance of the city, where this can be done without the destruction of property and it seems to me it would be a good thing to begin improving by taking down undesirable and shabby billboards, broken down and dilapidated fences and compelling every person in sewer districts to modernize their homes and connect with the sewer, insisting on cleanliness about every person's premises, seeing that all garbage and offensive substances are removed from back yards, and I would not object to the taking out of some undesirable trees such as cottonwood, poplar and crooked and improperly placed box elder and locust trees and compelling people to conform to some standard height of trimming all box elders, but I am opposed to the wholesale uprooting of the beautiful box elder tree. It is a native of this country and is one of the most desirable shade trees that we have. Besides there are many persons in our city who are getting near the 50 mark, who have been cultivating trees of this sort about their residences and to compel them to take out those trees and plant hard wood trees to conform to the city ordinance would deprive them of shade during the balance of their lives.

"Personally, I have been cultivating some box elder trees for the past thirty years. They have now reached the point where they give me a beautiful shade for my residence and it is not infrequently that a passerby admires them for their beauty and the shade they afford, and I would seriously object to having them taken out. Some use the argument that they drop their leaves every day in the summer, therefore, are not desirable. For my part, I do not see that they drop their leaves much more than other trees that are suggested to be planted in their place and they do not drop their leaves but little during the certain months of the year when they provide the best shade and any industrious man about his premises can, with very little effort, remove the leaves daily from his premises.

"The writer was showing a San Francisco merchant about our city a very short time back and the merchant could not help, almost on each block of our city, admiring the beautiful foliage of the box elder tree and he expressed himself as objecting strenuously to the removing of almost any kind of shade tree, claiming that nothing beautifies a city more than beautiful shade trees.

"Let us all take an interest in beautifying our city; be willing to curb, gutter and sidewalk the same; be sufficiently enterprising to pave important thoroughfares and periodically park the center of the blocks, but for one, I am personally opposed to the wholesale uprooting of the beautiful box elder tree.

(Signed) JAMES H. DOUGLAS."

The National Transport Workers' Federation of America, comprising maritime organizations of the Atlantic Coast and Gulf, which left their recognized and legitimate international affiliations to form the independent National Transport Workers' Federation of America, is, after a short and momentous career, in the process of dissolution.

Temple University, of Philadelphia, at the beginning of the next college term, will have a chair of household research, for the purpose of securing recognition for housework as a distinct and worthy profession. According to the advance bulletin on manufactures just issued by the census bureau, in 1909, the United States had 268,491 manufacturing establishments which gave employment during the year to an average of 7,678,578 persons, of whom 6,616,046 were wage earners. These manufacturing establishments paid $4,365,613,000 in salaries and wages, and turned out products to the value of $20,672,952,300, to produce which materials costing $12,141,791,000 were consumed.

Statistical data collected by the New York State bureau of labor for the first quarter in 1912 shows that there are 2,150 local organizations of labor in the state. The membership is reported as 497,000. On the last working day in March it was reported by the unions that 20 per cent of their members were unemployed and 10 per cent are reported as continuing idle during the first three months in the year. The bureau reports that the average per diem wage is steadily increasing. The general average wage for all workers for the first quarter of 1912, in comparison with the first quarter of 1911, is about 2 1-2 per cent higher.

INJUNCTION SUIT IN SALT LAKE

Salt Lake, Sept. 5.—Suits were filed yesterday in the Third district court by Edward L. Burton against H. P. Clark, the Continental Life Insurance & Investment company and all of the directors of that concern excepting T. R. Cutler, charging that Mr. Clark and five of the directors had conspired to secure the control of the corporation. Mr. Burton also sought an order of the court restraining the directors from holding a meeting yesterday afternoon to ratify an alleged agreement with Mr. Clark for the purchase of $100,000 worth of the treasury stock of the concern. Judge M. L. Ritchie issued a temporary restraining order and an order for the defendants to appear in court to show cause why the restraining order should not be made permanent.

Besides Mr. Clark and the insurance company the defendants in the

CONDUCTOR TELLS OF HEAVY DAILY STRAIN

The Kind That Breaks Men Down; Boyd White Found Way of Escape.

One of the popular conductors on the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road is Mr. Boyd A. White, whose home is at Millford, Utah. The heavy responsibilities day in and day out handling large shipments of valuable freight, such as has fallen on Mr. White, is a telling strain on brain and muscles, as the result of which he has been a sufferer from stomach trouble and rheumatism and a general run down condition. Relief from this he has found in Plant Juice, the new product which is sweeping the west now as it has the east, like wild fire. He has this to say regarding Plant Juice: "I did not think anything could put me on my feet as quick and straighten me out from head to foot like Plant Juice has. I knew it was a great preparation for I had it from good authority, but it surprised me. One bottle corrected my stomach trouble; it seemed to go to the exact spot, rheumatism had left me and I feel strong and vigorous. I recommend Plant Juice heartily."

After reciting that the capital stock of the company consists of 5000 shares of a par value of $75 each, of which 2785 shares have been issued, the complaint alleges that the control of the stock lies with Mr. Burton and other stockholders who are unnamed.

Mr. Burton alleges that the annual meeting of the stockholders is scheduled to be held next January and that at that time he and other stockholders desire to effect a change in the personnel of the directorate and the officers of the company.

Messrs. Edwards, Cunningham, Dem, McCormick and Mayo are alleged to be opposed to the proposed changes. The complaint charges that in order to exclude the plaintiff and certain other stockholders of the said corporation co-operating with the plaintiff from participating in the active management of the affairs of the corporation they have conspired to control the corporation by themselves and others co-operating with them. That they have "made a pretended agreement to sell the said Clark $100,000 worth of the treasury stock of the said corporation."

TWO SPLENDID SUGGESTIONS FOR THE SKIN AND HAIR

Simple little home-remedies usually do more to conserve the complexion than expensive preparations, and especially is this true of a spumax lotion for the face, neck, arms and hands. This is prepared by putting 4 ounces spumax into 1-2 pint witch hazel or hot water, and adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spumax lotion is invaluable when on and imparts a delicate and velvety smoothness to the skin. Its use banishes all complexion upsets and protects the skin from chaps and roughness.

Shampooing with canthox cleans the hair and scalp of all dust, dandruff and excess oil, and so energizes it that dull, faded, straggly hair takes on a bright luster, rich even color and silken fluff. You can easily prepare your own shampoo by dissolving a teaspoonful canthox in a cup hot water. Occasional shampoos with canthox keep the scalp healthy and encourage a bountiful growth of beautiful hair.
